

A shelf with a message

Storage technology specialist presents new idea

Since September 2015, Elvedi, Blumberg/DE, has been working with an enhanced version of the tried and tested weatherproof cantilever racking system that is used to store long objects with lengths of up to 12 m.

Thanks to a special substructure mounted behind the protective tarpaulin, the weather protection withstands heavy winds - even with maximum length goods. Trade fairs in both Austria and Germany have already seen live presentations of the new product idea with all features available.

Enclosure facilitates outdoor use

With an electric motor, it is easy to open and close the splash-proof and breathable protective cover safely. This renders bulky and heavy roller shutters or sliding gates redundant, and beyond that offers a cost-efficient alternative to rapid action doors. The stored goods are secure and protected against any weather. „Thanks to the electrically controlled weather protection in combination with the complete enclosure of the racks with troughed sheets as well as a drip molding, the cantilever rack is ideal for outdoor use“, commercial manager Edwin Müller points out.

Weather protection with a slogan

Rack heights up to 6 m and rack lengths for storage goods of up to 12 m can be realized without difficulty. In the standard configuration, the usable depth of the support arms can reach up to 2 m. „Other dimensions are of course available upon request“, Müller adds, while highlighting another additional feature in particular: It is possible to print logos, slogans or any desired advertising message on the flexible weather protection. This way, the shelving system not only guarantees secure storage of valuable goods but in addition helps sending out the matching advertising message.

Long-lasting shelves

„Our systems are robust and long-lasting. They are made from high-quality materials with a certificate of origin and they last for decades, even under maximum load“, Müller elaborates. Since 1984, Elvedi has been true to this motto, working on modern solutions to adapt to customers' needs, as Müller finally emphasizes. For the enterprise, the shelving system with weather protection is complementing the tried and tested cantilever racking system for outdoor use equipped with a roof or a panel. In Denmark and Norway, the storage and racking solutions are available via distribution partners. Elvedi is cooperating with Mas-Høvik from Bording/DK and Inge S. Årstad based in Stavanger/NO. //
